Arts in the Parks Community Survey 2021-2022

Arts in the Parks will be visiting several parks through out Tempe in the upcoming year from painting classes to live music, theater, and dance performances. This program is initiated by residents, and created from input by the community that lives near each park. Thank you for taking time to complete this survey to help us in crafting a season of arts in your neighborhood park that fits the local vibe and interests of your community.

Fence Art

Your park will be beautified and energized with a temporary installation on the fence created by talented artists from the Tempe community. Their designs will be inspired by input from you!

Meet the Artists

Koryn Woodward Wasson and Roy Wasson Valle have been working together since 2014 to make large scale interactive artwork installations. We are driven to make work which asks others to participate. It is part of our mission to share our understanding of the magic of being a small part of the larger world. What we do is one part of the conversation, and we look forward to learning what the people of Tempe would like to share with us for this new project. Visit Artist Website

Meet the Artist

Kyllan Maney is an interactive artist and muralist, who has a degree in art from Arizona State University. As an artist, Kyllan is very excited to be working on the Art in the Park Fence Art Project. She is looking to expand her work into radial pattern kaleidoscope images with elements at the park in bright bold colors. Kyllan sees her creative practice and teaching as a symbiotic relationship to create more. She has created a number of projects with the City of Tempe and teaches at New School for the Arts and Academics. Visit Artist Website

Outdoor Performance

An outdoor performance will be coming to your park in Spring of 2022! Meet the resident artist leading this project, and help them in determining themes, content, and ways to engage with your park's community.

Meet the Artist

Alli St. John is a theatre artist, educator, and cat mom living in Tempe, AZ, where she is working toward her MFA in Theatre for Youth and Community at ASU. Her artistic work is centered around puppetry, music, fairy tales and storybook adaptations. Alli loves to tell stories, make magic, play pretend, and jump around excitedly!

Meet the Artist

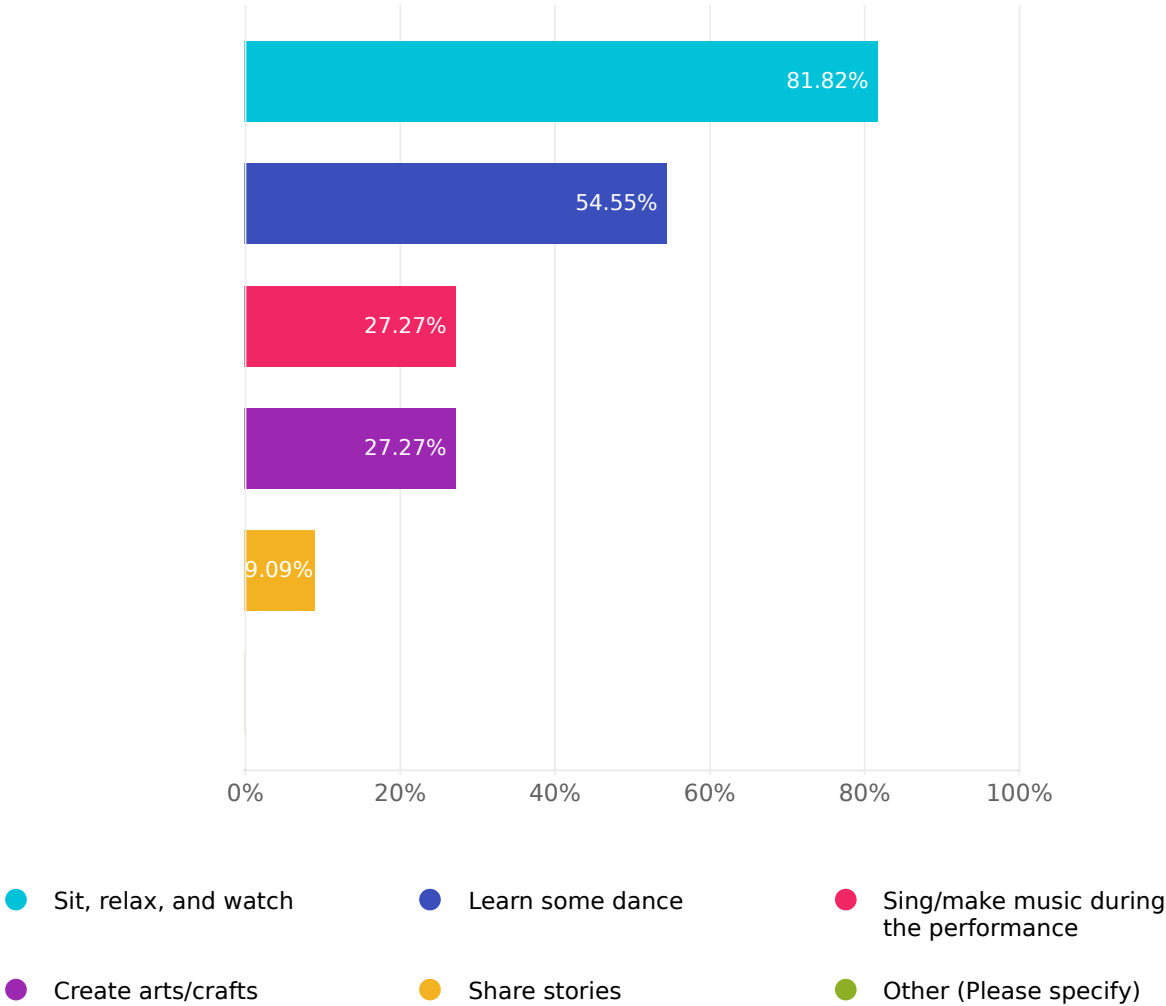

Ruby Morales is a dance activist committed to her love for art, dance, community, familia, and doing her part in creating life-affirming spaces rooted in reciprocity, trust, and love. Her dance practice in breaking, the dance form rooted in Hip Hop, and cumbia, a dance form rooted in her Mexican culture, informs her work inside of dance and inside of building community. As a total family and community loving person, she cannot wait to dance, laugh, and share stories with the local Tempe community through the performance of Breaking Pachanga.
